Rain the Last Two Days Cut Down Receipts.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather Friday and Saturday, which caused the attendance at the State Fair caused the attendance at the State Fair for those two days to be small, it is believed that the fair will pay all expenses and will probably have a small surplus over. The expenses of the fair were heavy, the most expensive single item being the aeroplane flights. The total cost of these was $4,400.

Ralph Johnson made a flight Saturday evening in a driving rain and sailed in the air for five minutes. The spectacle was witnessed by about 600 people.
